PART 1: RESULTS PROGRESS

1.1 Overall project progress to date

Briefly explain the status of the project in terms of its implementation cycle, including whether all preliminary/preparatory activities have been completed (1500 character limit):

The project ended on 31 May 2019 after concluding two last activities the National Dialogue or as Bintumani III, and the community post-election social cohesion initiatives. An independent final evaluation is ongoing and to be concluded by end of July 2019. The project implemented all key activities formulated in the output through an inclusive engagement with national stakeholders. In all phases of the implementation, activities were conducted through intensive consultations with the Sierra Leone government, civil society groups and other local stakeholders.

Considering the project's implementation cycle, please rate this project's overall progress towards results to date:
on track

In a few sentences, summarize what is unique/ innovative/ interesting about what this project is trying/ has tried to achieve or its approach (rather than listing activity progress) (1500 character limit).

While the project managed to achieve its key intended results, it also promoted and advocated for dialogues and reconciliations among key political actors beyond the election process. It provided the national stakeholders the foundation for further dialogues and a pathway to addressing outstanding issues in Sierra Leone. The project also promoted a broad-based inclusive process of ensuring participation and promoted a cross ethnic initiative and political affiliation. This will strengthen tolerance and promote inclusivity in the country. Through project collaboration and creation of dialogue platforms, the project entrenched the tradition of dialogues in West Africa where issues are usually being discussed and resolved collectively.

While the project aimed at ensuring a peaceful and secure environment during the electoral cycle, it has also built a basis for the country's long-term resilience and capacity in addressing political transition and post-conflict in Sierra Leone. The project was implemented during an electoral cycle and involved diverse interconnected activities focused on building capacities of relevant institutions and strengthening existing systems.

Through support to key national institutions, the project increased national capacities for violence prevention, human rights and strengthened systems for redress and prevent further escalation of violence and reinforced peacebuilding through promoting peace and national cohesion at local levels.

In a few sentences summarize major project peacebuilding progress/results (with evidence), which PBSO can use in public communications to highlight the project (1500 character limit):

The project supported the high-level dialogue which led to Bintumani national dialogue that provided a platform for all stakeholders to discuss peace and social cohesion issues in Sierra Leone. The dialogue reinforced commitment by all to sustain peace, work together to address differences and urge all parties to continue engaging with each other peacefully. This is in addition the plan to establish Peace Commission for Sierra Leone.

During the runup to the March 2018 elections, a peace pledge was signed by 18 presidential candidates committing them and their supporters to peaceful conduct of campaigns, elections and acceptance of results. This helped build confidence among different political leaders for conduct of peaceful campaigns and elections. This was in addition to the establishment of the Eminent Persons Group (EPG) which engaged higher level political leadership and key national actors on the need conduct elections in a peaceful manner.

Nationwide peace advocacy campaigns created awareness among public on peaceful election process, political tolerance and the need for citizens to participate in democratic elections. Through supporting the human rights work, the project facilitated justice institutions to be responsive addressing electoral disputes. Over 405 cases were fast-tracked and resolved through the Alternative Dispute Resolution. The post election activities in hotspot areas promoted local reconciliation and addressed grievances through peaceful way.

In a few sentences, explain how the project has made real human impact, that is, how did it affect the lives of any people in the country – where possible, use direct quotes that PBSO can use in public communications to highlight the project (1500 character limit):

The Government of Sierra Leone organized the National Dialogue Conference on Consolidation for Peace and National Cohesion from 23 – 25 May 2019. The conference was a culmination of other dialogues in the communities, as well as the Women's Conference and Civil Society Forum.

The President of Sierra Leone H.E Julius Maada Bio opened the dialogue calling for an inclusive participation of all for the future of the country. UN SRSG Mohamed Ibn Chambas was invited as the guest of honor and provided his remarks encouraging all issues and grievances to be resolved through dialogues.

Regional organizations also participated and provided goodwill messages congratulating the President and the People of Sierra Leone for initiating the dialogue. The event was broadcasted live nationally on radio and Television (TV) reaching all parts of the country.

The outcome of the Dialogue, leaders and participants reached consensus and reaffirmed their commitments toward the implementation of key recommendations for sustaining peace, which was captured in a communique. Key outcome and recommendations are expected to provide input to policy makers tasked with advancing the implementation of key resolutions. Recommendations that are not captured in the communique will be integrated into the policy agenda and the white paper of the government as stated by the Vice President in the closing remarks.

If the project progress assessment is on-track, please explain what the key challenges (if any) have been and which measures were taken to address them (1500 character limit).

At the start of the project in June 2017, a natural disaster (mudslide) occurred on 14 August 2017 which shifted attention and drifted focus of some implementation partners to providing emergency response during the emergency. The Integrated Election Security Planning Committee (IESPC) comprised of two key project partners including the Office of National Security (ONS) and the Sierra Leone Police (SLP) whose focus shifted to responding to the emergency. This slightly delayed activities especially during the initiation phase. To address this challenge, activities were accelerated through additional technical support brought on board by the project.

The departure of the Human Rights Adviser (HRA) in June 2018 with replacement coming onboard in late October 2018 created a gap in OHCHR involvement in implementation and mainstreaming of human rights aspects during the initial phases of the project. This was resolved with arrival of the HRA in October 2017 who continuously supported the project until April 2018. OHCHR deployed another HRA for three months (January to April 2019) to implement workshops for 437 law enforcement officers under phase 3 of the project.

At the latest stage of the implementation, the project requested a no cost extension to allow the national stakeholders to prepare the post-election activities inclusively with multi stakeholders come together to assess hot spots areas and how best to proceed with the reconciliation efforts in these communities.

If the assessment is off-track, please list main reasons/ challenges and explain what impact this has had/will have on project duration or strategy and what measures have been taken/ will be taken to address the challenges/ rectify project progress (1500 character limit):

OHCHR deployed a HRA to mainstream human rights throughout the project, provide advice to the RC and the UNCT as well as to build capacity of national actors, particularly the security sector, on human rights during the election. The HRA resigned before the end of the project. A HRA was deployed to support the remainder of the project for 3 months (January to March 2019). In consultation with UNDP, it was decided to redirect remaining funds allotted to OHCHR for salaries to additional training activities of the Liberian National Police.

1.2 Result progress by project outcome

The space in the template allows for up to four project outcomes. If your project has more approved outcomes, contact PBSO for template modification.

Outcome 1: National dialogue, peace advocacy, and violence prevention enhanced

Rate the current status of the outcome progress: on track

Progress summary: Describe main progress under this Outcome made during the reporting period (for June reports: January-June; for November reports: January-November; for final reports: full project duration), including major output progress (not all individual activities). If the project is starting to make/ has made a difference at the outcome level, provide specific evidence for the progress (quantitative and qualitative) and explain how it impacts the broader political and peacebuilding context. Where possible, provide specific examples of change the project has supported/ contributed to as well as, where available and relevant, quotes from partners or beneficiaries about the project and their experience. (3000 character limit)?

The project contributed to promote national dialogues, advocacy for peace and prevention of violence during and after 2018 election - the first election since the civil war ended conducted without UN direct oversight.

During the election, the project supported the high-level dialogue by bringing presidential candidates together for a peace pledge thus committing them to peaceful conduct of campaigns and acceptance of results. In tandem, the Codes of Conduct signed with leaders of political parties, youth and women respectively committed all participating in the electoral process in a peaceful manner.

At the community level, the project supported peace advocacy and non-violence awareness campaigns with over 18 open public sensitisations in at least 18 constituencies. Over 48 outreach sessions on voter education in 16 districts were conducted targeting first-time voters, women, and PWD. At least 4,016 citizens (2,627 men and 1,389 women) directly acquired practical knowledge and skills on the voting process. A Citizens' platform forum was constituted to spread peace and non-violence messages through at least 23 bi-weekly meetings. All these efforts worked towards disseminating peace and non-violence messages, conduct of proper elections and good electoral management practices.

To build the capacity of institutions to address electoral violence and provide justice to rights holder, the project supported the Judiciary develop an electoral module and curricula which was used by the Judicial and Legal Training Institute (JLTI) to improve skills and knowledge of at least 58 judicial personnel and 50 LAB and Sierra Leone Bar Association (SLBA) in understanding processing particularly elections related issues. Judiciary also benefited from support to compile a compendium of electoral laws. Trainings to legal counsels saw provision of legal aid to at least 363 clients on electoral issues, legal representation to over 257 persons and referral services to at least 111 complainants, further opening public access to justice.

After the election, the project worked closely with the national government and NGOs to address issues in the communities strongly affected by the violence. Under the leadership of the Vice President office, the project supported reconciliation efforts and community dialogues in hotspot districts and chiefdoms.

During the post-election period, the project supported Government of Sierra Leone to develop a green paper on road map for peace. In May 2019, the project supported the Government to organize a National Dialogue conference which gave an opportunity for national stakeholders to deliberate on recommendations contained in the Green Paper as well as issues pertaining to enhancing national stability, cohesion and political tolerance. At the end of the dialogue, leaders and participants reaffirmed their commitments towards implementation of key recommendations as started in the communique.

Outcome 2: Public security, civil protection, human rights promotion, and peaceful response capacities sustained

Rate the current status of the outcome progress: on track

Progress summary: (see guiding questions under Outcome 1)

The project contributed to enhance public security and protection and strengthen human rights through supporting national early warning mechanism and response, building the capacity of Sierra Leone Police and media institutions. The project strengthened national and community-based Early Warning and Response Systems at national and district levels.

At least 3 election security simulation exercises were conducted which provided practical understanding to security personnel from different security formations (police, military and custodial corps). The simulations prepared all security institutions to provide specific support to elections specifically at strategic, tactical, and operational command levels. The exercises also gave 330 security personnel an opportunity to understand their protective work and services as well as intuitions supporting elections at different levels. Existing plans were tested and validated, procedures established, and staff competencies developed thus allowing them to easily execute their duties and responsibilities.

The operational capacity of the Integrated Elections Security Planning Committee under ONS was strengthened which contributed to coordination of national early warning and response system in the country. This is in addition to support to at least 14 town hall meetings by ONS in at least 14 districts which disseminated key messages on election security to over 700 persons. The meetings also strengthened partnership and relationship between security personnel and the public while responding to crisis and violence especially at community levels.

To ensure messages on human rights and peaceful elections were promoted across Sierra Leone, the HRC-SL built the capacity of at least 109 members of District Human Rights Committees (DHRC) in the 4 regions. The HRC-SL also conducted community engagements on human rights to 155 participants (37 males and 118 females). Human rights issues were mainstreamed throughout all activities of the project.

The project enhanced the capacity of the Sierra Leone Police (SLP) officers through training of at least 1,643 officers on election security management and conflict prevention. Technical aspects of the training on human rights was provided by the OHCHR. The project supported six Incident Command and Control Centres (ICCs) operated by the SLP in 6 regions thus helping to improve flow of information throughout the police command structure and ensured timely response to potential and existing violence conflict. This also helped the capacity of early monitoring at the chieftdom levels.

To prevent the spread of fake news, hate speech, the project supported media institutions in working to contain rumours and fake news. This was done through training of over 1,083 media personnel on conflict-sensitive reporting and responsible use of social media. In the post-election period OHCHR provided support to further trainings of 437 SLP in eight key districts.

1.3 Cross-cutting issues

National ownership: How has the national government demonstrated ownership/ commitment to the project results and activities? Give specific examples. (1500 character limit)	The national stakeholders committed and worked with the project team from the inception phase and throughout. The Ministry of Internal Affairs (MIA) as the lead government agency for the project, convened and jointly co-chaired all project Technical Committee (TC) meetings comprised of over thirteen project implementation partners. All project implementation plans were reviewed and approved by the TC and key institutions. The project also conducted regular updates to the Ministry and partners and sought strategic and advisory support. The project worked with government and non-government stakeholders to address some sensitive issues and mitigate delay to the implementation. During the implementation of the post-election social cohesion the project worked closely with the Vice President Office to plan activities in the hotspot areas. For the National Dialogue, the coordination support was led by Ministry of Political Affairs and the Office of the Chief Minister. The Steering Committee (SC) was convened involving key Ministries, Departments and Agencies (MDAs), UNDP, RCO and partners. This allowed coordination and strategic direction are formulated inclusive among institutions relevant to the project.
Monitoring: Is the project M&amp;E plan on track? What monitoring methods and sources of evidence are being/ have been used? Please attach any monitoring-related reports for the reporting period. (1500 character limit)?	Monitoring process of the project was an ongoing process throughout. Tracking of progress was conducted through the Steering Committee (SC), project level Technical Committee (TC) meetings and ad hoc engagements between the project team and partners. During the election period, SC and TC met more frequent from bi-monthly meetings to weekly for two months. Tracking matrix was presented by partners and used as a way reviewing progress. The project team also conducted regular field visits to project locations to monitor activities, provide technical advice throughout and support the implementation process as well as help coordinate activities. Feedback from field visits was synthesized as lesson learned. The project team also engaged with senior management of UNDP and OHCHR on key progress made, challenges faced and solutions advocated to address

	issue. The project also worked on constant process of mapping opportunity to effective implementation, identify gaps and put in place factors critical for success. The project utilized the Monitoring and Evaluation plan formulated and prepared based by partners. Regular monitoring visit and spot-checks were conducted to verify and assess the implementation. Partners were required by the project to provide their monitoring reports and include them in their reporting submission.
Evaluation: Provide an update on the preparations for the external evaluation for the project, especially if within last 6 months of implementation or final report. Confirm available budget for evaluation. (1500 character limit)	The project conducted the mid-term evaluation, which highlighted the progress of the project implementation. Key recommendations from the mid term evaluation work informed and provided input in improving the implementation process. The project is currently preparing for the final evaluation to look at impact and result of the project. Findings and the full report will be made available and will be the basis to for overall lesson learned and examine the project achievement of the intended results. The project has allocated budget to cover the final evaluation cost.
Catalytic effects (financial): Did the project lead to any specific non-PBF funding commitments? If yes, from whom and how much? If not, have any specific attempts been made to attract additional financial contributions to the project and beyond? (1500 character limit)	The project attracted non-PBF funding and commitments. During the period under review, the project mobilised additional funding from the Canadian government with a total budget of USD 401,517, which contributed to the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Support to the EPG and the High-Level Peace Dialogue through the PPRC.</li> <li>• Support to youth and women by the PPRC through APPYA and APPWA.</li> <li>• Voter education and sensitisation through the NCD.</li> <li>• National peace and non-violence campaign initiatives through the NCD.</li> </ul> The UK Aid provided funding equivalent to $2,023,174 which contributed to the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Early Warning Mechanisms at decentralised levels (district and chiefdom levels) through the ONS.</li> <li>• Simulation exercises for security personnel in Sierra Leone through the ONS.</li> <li>• Trainings on ethics during elections through the SLP.</li> <li>• Training on mediation and peacebuilding skills targeting PPRC staff at regional levels.</li> <li>• Training of media institutions on conflict-sensitive reporting through the MRCG.</li> <li>• Operationalisation of National Situation Room by ONS.</li> <li>• Trainings/workshops on responsible use of social media during campaigns/elections through BBC Media Action.</li> </ul>
Catalytic effects (non-financial): Did the project create favourable conditions for additional peacebuilding activities by	The project managed to accelerate the National Agenda on peace building and social cohesion. The support to the Green Paper and the National Dialogue provided space and

Government/ other donors? If yes, please specify. (1500 character limit)	platform for national actors on consensus how to move forward with the Peace agenda. The communique coming out from the dialogue provided the basis on the establishment of a Peace Commission and various recommendations to political actors on the important of dialogue. The national actors are committed to follow up the recommendation with the Government of Sierra Leone will allocate their own resources to start the implementation. The project work with media during the election and with the community in the post election providing creating stronger synergies between the PBF funded project and the national programs separately funded by local actors. This include the local dialogue promoted by NGOs as part of their broader effort to build a local inclusive space in districts where community, traditional, political leaders come together to regularly discuss issues affected their community. As the results of mainstreaming human rights throughout the project by OHCHR, the project increased awareness of and respect for human rights norms by security personnel and participating institutions. The project empowered HRC-SL to develop a systemic framework for human rights monitoring and can be used to monitor violations beyond elections. SLP continue to support this programme using own resources.
Exit strategy/ sustainability: What steps have been taken to prepare for end of project and help ensure sustainability of the project results beyond PBF support for this project? (1500 character limit)	From the inception of the project, mechanisms and deliberate efforts have been put in place to ensure the sustainability of the project. The project formulated and implemented activities by building strong linkages to Government and non -government peacebuilding initiatives in Sierra Leone. Through the TC, national partners and counterparts continuously collaborated in executing actions which provided a great platform to learn and share experiences. Some of these platforms continued to exist and is expected to expand further with the establishment of the Peace Commission. The human rights work was designed to be self-sustained by working closely with the Human Right Commissions, while the component on supporting the Sierra Leone Police will be further taken forward by SLP through the Local Police Partnership Board. The local dialogues are currently sustained through the existing platforms at the local level with NGOs like Fambultok, WANEP and CGG who are the leading groups working on community peacebuilding initiatives.
Risk taking: Describe how the project has responded to risks that threatened the achievement of results. Identify any new risks that have emerged since the last report. (1500 character limit)	During this crucial period in Sierra Leone, addressing sensitive, important national issues is critical to ensuring long-term stability and peace. The project took some risks by promoting dialogue and providing inclusive space for various national actors to discuss sensitive national issues,

	which are important to address grievances and the underlying causes of the current tension. In the case of Bintumani III, the project mitigated risks through leveraging the UN position and coordinated approach with other UN agencies that also contributed to supporting the National Dialogue. On post-election social cohesion activities, the project took risks by engaging citizens in hotspot communities who were marginalized and dissatisfied with some political leaders who were perceived to have created conflict for their self-interest of getting elected. The project addressed risks through a joint approach between the Vice President Office and experienced local CSOs. The project also took risk in promoting inclusion of women in leadership and politics especially in a society where majority of the women were experiencing domestic violence. Working with the police officers, who were sometimes viewed as partisan and with poor track record in the community, was a risk taking but important work as increasing human rights awareness among SLP and facilitating a better relationship between the police and the community is crucial for the long-term stability and prevention in the community.
Gender equality: In the reporting period, which activities have taken place with a specific focus on addressing issues of gender equality or women’s empowerment? (1500 character limit)	Gender sensitive and responsive interventions are a core focus of the project. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A key activity focusing on women’s empowerment was training of female aspirants running for parliamentary, chair, mayoral positions as independent and party affiliated. Over 341 female aspirants were trained on “effective participation in political and decision-making processes” during elections. Over 40 selected candidates were given a platform on radio programmes to present their agenda in relation to their political candidature. Profiles for the candidates were documented and shared on social media. Over 20 radio programs focusing on participation and inclusion of women and PWDs in elections were broadcasted across 31 radio stations, receiving overwhelming acclamation by the public on the role of women in leadership.</li> <li>• Deliberate efforts were made to mainstream gender at every stage. Issues relating to discrimination based on gender formed a key component of the training manual developed by HRC-SL with support of the OHCHR. This was used for monitoring of human rights during elections and formed an integral component of sensitization.</li> <li>• In the post-election dialogues, the project activities ensured deliberate inclusion women in the community dialogues, allowed them to meaningfully participate and</li> </ul> voices heard, especially in the community where women are the main victims of electoral violence.
