In May 2024, Search communicated with state-level government entities to coordinate activities. In Blue Nile State, through its partner MOD, Search engaged with the Humanitarian Aid Commission (HAC) to seek permission for project implementation and ensure compliance with the project's Technical Agreement. Such communication is routine, as all international NGOs working with local civil society organizations (CSOs) with a specific project budget threshold must have a Technical Agreement signed by the Federal HAC, State HAC, relevant ministry, national CSO, and lead INGO. Notably, MOD obtained a permission letter from the State HAC allowing the commencement of implementation in February 2024. The same engagement was made with HAC in South Kordofan.

Despite the smooth start of the project with all the project partners on board, the deterioration of the security status in Sudan has led to Search losing one of the project implementing partners, Badya Centre for Integrated Development. Amidst the overall insecurity in South Kordofan, some Badya staff were detained by the security forces and other team members fled to safer places (inside and outside of Sudan). Badya also lost their physical existence in Dilling, and their office in West Kordofan lacked the needed support, which reduced their operational capacity. Earlier this year, Search decided to take over the activities initially granted to Badya (rescheduled as Search activities) since they were no longer able to be an active partner for this project and because it was difficult to identify a new partner organization towards the end of the project. Search is also finalizing the process of recruiting a field program consultant to further accelerate the project implementation.

On another operational side, Search field staff are now able to efficiently function from South Kordofan, Kassala, and partially from Blue Nile. This has impacted the project's geographical coverage, which now includes Kassala and Gadarif as the new implementation area and excludes West Kordofan and Khartoum due to accessibility difficulties. With the continuation of poor security and difficulty of movement, the project baseline has been facing data collection constraints. To mitigate the baseline data gap, the Monitoring and Evaluation Manager with the support of Search's Institutional Learning Team proposed an alternative approach to maintain a progress log after each activity implementation, gather anecdotal information from project participants, and review available secondary resources. The baseline report was finalized in October 2024, and it captured/identified:

· Values for key indicators and assessed whether the project's Theory of Change (TOC) resonates with targeted communities and their needs and is relevant to the current context.

· Strengths, challenges, and needs in locally-led peacebuilding, specifically related to WLWSOs.

· Key stakeholders to engage in the project to ensure buy-in and ownership are created in communities (stakeholder mapping).

· Some risks and recommendations for programming.

The full baseline report is attached as an annex to this report.

Describe overall progress under each Outcome made during the reporting period (for June reports: January-June; for November reports: January-November; for final reports: full project duration). Do not list individual activities. If the project is starting to make/has made a difference at the outcome level, provide specific evidence for the progress (quantitative and qualitative) and explain how it impacts the broader political and peacebuilding context.

Is the project on track for the timely completion of outputs as indicated in the workplan?   *****

During the period being reported (Jan-Nov 2024), despite progress on the ground, the program continued to face many challenges that hindered its normal implementation.

The first one was the lack of cash and qualified vendors. This logistical constraint is a result of banks shut down in South Kordofan which affected Search's capacity to transfer money to field staff to carry on activities. Due to the ongoing conflict, no trusted suppliers can be contracted to support project activities. To respond to this challenge, Search looked for ways to facilitate money transfers and contracted the money transfer agency Dahabshiil to allow money transfers for project participants and vendors through mobile banking.

The second challenge was getting permission from local authorities to implement the project activities. In the past, local authorities at the subnational level used to sign a technical agreement that greenlighted the entire project implementation. Since the war and the change of decision-makers, new regulations have been adopted, one of them being the obligation to get separate permission for each activity which allows local authorities to intervene in all steps of the project implementation. Moreover, authorities could reject or request a change in a target area, a participant or a facilitator who is suspected by the intelligence forces or authorities These measures are sometimes applied after the activity permission has been issued, and local authorities stop the activity claiming they need more investigation, which has a direct effect on Search's implementation schedule.

Additionally, the Rapid Support Force (RSF)'s infiltration into Sinja and Dinder in mid-2024 has significantly hindered access to Blue Nile State, one of the key areas for project implementation.

Another critical challenge faced by Search in the past months was losing our project implementing partner Badya Center for Integrated Development as detailed in the "Project Status" section above. To overcome the delays in implementation, Search dedicated a higher level of effort of its staff to oversee the project and the process of recruiting a field consultant to help accelerate the implementation of the remaining activities is being finalized.

The above reasons will cost the project extra months of extension (to be determined) to complete the remaining activities.

The Social Media Campaign (late 2023 to mid-2024) promoted community understanding and acceptance of local peace initiatives, particularly women-led efforts, while countering hate speech and misinformation online. Monitored by AIfluence.LTD, the campaign highlighted peace initiatives, showcased women leaders, and offered education on combating misinformation and reducing hate speech. Between February and May 25, the campaign reached 653,520 people, with 24,930 engaging actively—mostly from Kassala, BN, Khartoum, Kordofan, and Port Sudan. Influencer analysis showed negative attitudes toward peace content declined from 32.6% at week 4 to 26.5% at week 10, signaling growing support for peacebuilding and women's roles in Sudan's online spaces (mainly on Facebook).

Community leaders were also part of identifying the focus of the social media campaign by sharing their opinions in the Media Design Workshops in Kassala and Kadugli to inform Search's media programming. In February, they gathered 40 leaders representing journalists, scriptwriters, anthropologists, social influencers, actors, women and youth. With a male-dominated presence (7 women, 33 men), the participants understood the benefits of women's inclusion and the importance of highlighting the different roles of women in media. This can be seen in the gender sensitive messages they developed to inform the project's media interventions. Posts: Link 1. Link 2. Link 3.

82 women in SK were prepared to contribute to peacebuilding in their local fragile community after their economic status was improved through the Livelihood Support during March under the supervision of partner Umserdiba to remove some of the barriers facing marginalised women leaders from tea sellers and small goods and crops traders. This livelihood initiative helped lower tensions in SK after the recent armed conflict in Dallanj by providing essential materials (crops, plastic chairs, sugar, etc.) to both IDPs from Debaibat and Dallanj and the host community in Debaibat, reducing competition over limited resources.

3 Peace Academies supported women-led and women-serving CSOs in strengthening their peacebuilding roles. The first, held in Kampala from March 12-14, trained 24 Sudanese women leaders, including refugees and members of Tagadum (a body of civil democratic forces aiming to stop the war), in Track II Mediation skills. The second academy in Kadugli (May, SK State) provided CGA training on non-violent communication, conflict analysis, and collaboration, fostering links among women's networks. The third academy in Kadugli (August) trained 30 women from the Almashrg Network in non-adversarial advocacy, with knowledge of advocacy rising from 17% to 95% after training, helping them better address women's needs in conflict.

In March, under the "National Women Dialogue" activity, Alharisat held two leadership workshops in Kampala, training 20 young Sudanese women in communication, public speaking, critical thinking, and debate. This empowered them to integrate into their new environment and positively influence peace initiatives in the Sudanese community.

Between March and April, coordination among women-serving CBOs in SK was strengthened through the formation of 2 CSO Networks: the Habila Network for Peace and Development, comprising 12 CBOs, and the Alwifag Network in Dallanj, comprising 24 CBOs. This process built the organisational capacities of network members, with 12 women selected to lead executive and general assembly roles. In May, two additional networks were established: Alzaem for Future in Dilling, formed by five CBOs supporting women IDPs, and ALSurag Almoneer for Development, formed by six CBOs in Habila.

Informal gatherings of women such as coffee ceremonies were invested for women groups who are not usual attendees of formal civil society platforms. MOD implemented 8 coffee ceremony sessions for raising the awareness of targeted women on women peace and security. 2 were in May in Gaissan locality targeting 146 women from different age groups. The other 6 sessions were implemented in August in 3 different locations (2 sessions each); Agagair area where both ethnical components of the area (Angasana and Arab) were engaged reaching 49 participants, ALshaid Afandi where the majority of the inhabitants are IDPs reaching 47 participants, and Ganis East area with 64 participants. In the sessions, the facilitators discussed the pillars of the UN resolution on women peace and security 1325 and how it can be related to the context of Sudan.

To increase the understanding, acceptance of, and support to women's rights and the positive benefits of women's inclusion among male authorities and community leaders, Search implemented two Gender Sensitivity workshops in August and September for community leaders, religious leaders, political leaders and members of emergency rooms in Kassala Sate east of Sudan. The workshops exposed 37 participants to the concepts of gender roles, gender dynamics, women's rights, and their role in supporting women's empowerment and leadership. For some, despite their leadership roles, it was their first time in this type of training.

After many challenges due to security and accessibility constraints, the baseline report was successfully finalised in October. The data analysed was collected through surveying women-led and women-serving organisations and local communities.

Indicate any additional analysis on how Gender Equality and Women's Empowerment and/or Youth Inclusion and Responsiveness has been ensured by the project to date   *

Please limit your response to 3000 characters

The project is entirely designed to support and work with women civil society leaders, and women-led and women-serving organizations. During the period being reported, the project implemented 4 activities in a stream that support the first outcome of the project; Strengthen the capacity, coordination, and strategic relationships among women-led and women-serving civil society to advance peacebuilding. Livelihood initiatives as a women's empowerment tool has created coordination opportunities between different women groups where the support involved women from Internally Displaced People (IDP) group in Debaibat locality as well as women from the host community. The coffee sessions were implemented to promote inclusivity, specifically engaging women's groups who are often absent from formal civil society platforms. By incorporating the traditional coffee ceremony, these informal gatherings provided an accessible way to connect with women, gather their perspectives on peace and security, and explore how they believe they can contribute to it. The Peace Academies contributed to filling the knowledge gap in advocacy and nonviolent communication that further empowers women to effectively advocate for the importance of women participation in peace efforts. The support provided for women CSO Networks has targeted intergenerational women ensuring youth inclusion.

The second outcome of the project; Increase the understanding, acceptance of, and support to women's rights and the positive benefits of women's inclusion among male authorities and community leaders is indicating the project sensitivity to engage young male actors. The gender sensitivity trainings implemented in Kassala have targeted political and religious leaders as well as local activists to increase their understanding of gender roles, gender dynamics, women's rights, and their role in supporting women's empowerment and leadership. The social media campaign that ran for 6 months (Nov 2023- June) engaged male influencers to post and share content promoting women-led community initiatives in their different heavily-followed social media platforms.

The project implementation in Blue Nile was sensitive to the ethnic background of the participants that used to cause armed conflict in the near past of the region. Both Angasana and Arab components were involved in the coffee sessions implemented in Alagagir area in Blue Nile. The project also guaranteed the participation of people with disability especially in the Eastern part of the country, where people with disability are more socially organized and can be accessed in their well-established/registered organizations/platforms. Differently able people attended the gender sensitivity training implemented in Kassala in August

Is the project 1+ year in implementation?   *

(•) Yes

( ) No

FOR PROJECTS 1+ YEAR IN IMPLEMENTATION ONLY:

Is the project demonstrating outcome-level peacebuilding results?   *

Outcome-level peacebuilding results entail results achieved at the societal or structural level, including changed attitudes, behaviours or institutions.

(•) Yes

( ) No

If yes, please provide concrete examples of such peacebuilding results

Please limit your response to 6000 characters

The community's understanding of local peace initiatives and acceptance of women's role in community peace initiatives was promoted by the project Social Media Campaign. From February up to 25 May , the campaign reached 653,520 people, among which 24,930 actively engaged with the content. Most engagements came from Kassala, Blue Nile, Khartoum, the Kordofan area, and Port Sudan. The sentiment analysis of the content shared by the influencers showed that the negative attitude toward peace content shifted from 32.6% at week 4 to 26.5% at week 10 of the campaign, indicating more acceptance of local peace initiatives and women's role in local peace efforts. With such a campaign, the project is positively influencing the peacebuilding context in Sudan by encouraging the choice of peace in the Sudanese online spaces.

If yes, please provide sources or references (including links) as evidence of peacebuilding results, or submit them as additional attachments.

Evidence may be quantitative or qualitative but needs to demonstrate progress against outcome indicators in the project results framework. Sources may include project surveys (such as perception surveys), monitoring reports, government documents, or other knowledge products that have been developed by the project.

INDICATOR BASED PERFORMANCE ASSESSMENT

Using the Project Results Framework as per the approved project document or any amendments, provide an update on the achievement of key outcome and output indicators in the table below.

- If the outcome has more than 3 indicators, select the 3 most relevant ones with most relevant progress to highlight.
- If the outcome has more than 5 outputs, please select 5 of the most relevant outputs per outcome, and provide an update on the progress made against 3 most relevant output indicators.
- Where it has not been possible to collect data on indicators, state this and provide any explanation. Provide gender and age disaggregated data. (500 characters max per entry)

Human Impact

This section is about the human impact of the project. Please state the number of key stakeholders (including but not limited to: Civil Society Organziations, Beneficiaries, etc.) of the project, and for each, please briefly describe:

i. The challenges/problem they faced prior to the project implemantation
ii. The impact of the project in their lives
iii. Provide, where possible, a quote or testimonial from a representative of each stakeholder group

This is an optional question. You may leave it unanswered if not relevant

Human Impact	Type of stakeholder	What has been the impact of the project on their lives?	Provide, where possible, a quote or testimonial from the stakeholder
1	Male stakeholders (religious leaders)	In eastern Sudan, particularly in Kassala, social norms often overlook gender inclusivity in sociopolitical spaces. Men typically refrain from engaging in what are considered "women's issues," even those in leadership positions, including religious leaders. This gender-blind approach has hindered male leaders from adopting a supportive stance toward women's inclusion. To address this, the project targeted these leaders through gender sensitivity workshops, exposing them to concepts of gender, gender roles and dynamics, gender-based violence, women's rights, and the vital role male allies play in advancing women's inclusion.	"It is my first time to hear and to participate in a workshop of any kind," he added "we the religious leaders always left aside and not given a chance to attend such workshops" Sheikh Ali, a religious leader.

2	Young Sudanese Women in Uganda who are newly refugees	The Ugandan context is new for them with language and cultural barriers. The communication skills conducted by Alharisat in Kampala contributed to building the capabilities for those women to integrate into the Ugandan community and continue supporting peace efforts for Sudan.
3	Sudanese Social Media Influencers	As part of the social media campaign, the influencers were trained to detect misinformation and disinformation, which increased their ability to share the right news and counter rumours. They increased their meaningful presence in the Social Media platforms, adding value to the community. The campaign provided an opportunity for the influencers to be seen as peace advocates by their followers and appreciated for that.

Grassroots women leaders play an important role in initiating local peace efforts and wield significant influence within their communities. However, they are often absent from traditional formal civil society platforms. Innovatively, the project tapped into their informal gatherings, like coffee ceremonies, to engage these leaders directly, creating inclusive spaces for discussing the roles and challenges women face in promoting peace and security. This approach brings essential voices into peacebuilding dialogues by meeting women leaders where they naturally gather, amplifying their impact on local peace initiatives.

baseline report was successfully finalized in October 2024. The data analysed was collected through surveying WLWSOs and local communities, to gather quantitative data on organizational capacities, challenges, and the level of community support for women's leadership, workshops with WLWSOs members to facilitate the mapping of their organizational capacities, networks, and areas of influence, and a comprehensive desk review. The findings captured: 1) Values for key indicators and assessed whether the project's Theory of Change (TOC) resonates with targeted communities and their needs and is relevant to the current context. 2) Strengths, challenges, and needs in locally-led peacebuilding, specifically related to WLWSOs. 3) Key stakeholders to engage in the project to ensure buy-in and ownership are created in communities (stakeholder mapping). 4) Some risks and recommendations for programming. The full baseline report is attached as an annex to this report.

» Catalytic Effect

Catalytic Effect (financial): Has the project mobilized additional non-PBF financial resources to date? *

- ( ) Yes
- (●) No

How many funders has the project received additional non-PBF funding from? *

Catalytic Effect (non-financial): Has the project enabled or created a larger or longer-term peacebuilding change to occur, in addition to the direct project changes? *

- ( ) Yes
- (●) No

If yes, please select the relevant option below: *

- ( ) Some catalytic effect
- ( ) Significant catalytic effect

If relevant, please describe how the project has had a (non-financial) catalytic effect, i.e. removed barriers to unblock stalled political, institutional or other peacebuilding processes at different levels in a country, and/or created the conditions to establish new processes to do so *

Sustainability

Does the project have an explicit exit strategy?

Please describe any steps that have been taken to ensure the sustainability of peacebuilding gains, including any mechanisms, platforms, networks and socio-economic initiatives supported, beyond the duration of the project *

Please limit your response to 3000 characters.

The livelihood support in SK is provided to those who already have a running business or one with a well-studied proposal and have previous experience running small businesses, to reduce the risk and enhance sustainability. The project engaged with existing networks, leaders, and CBOs who will offer insight and lessons learned on successful peace and livelihood initiatives ensuring that newly trained leaders build on best practices. Additionally, Search is providing technical support for its partners and their participants from CBOs to identify funding opportunities to sustain their work. Such as, development of work plans, and best practices in finance management.

Are there any other issues concerning project implementation that you want to share, including any capacity needs of the recipient organizations?

Please limit your response to 3000 characters.

Project implementing partners require capacity development in impact-driven report writing, particularly in effectively capturing stories of change related to peacebuilding. This training will enhance their ability to accurately highlight and reflect on the project's progress.
