SECTION 4. PROJECT RATIONALE
-------------------------------------

4.1	SITUATION ANALYSIS: Please provide a brief introduction to the current social and economic situation related to the Project (geographic region and beneficiaries, etc.) Please describe the problem or critical issue which the project seeks to resolve, how the problem was identified, and how will the Project address the problem. If relevant, analysis of gender equality needs to be described.
	There is a growing global consensus recognizing gender-based violence against women as a serious violation of basic human rights. In the meantime, the problem is increasingly visible in all sections of society, to which Lao PDR is no exception. According to the 2014 National Survey on Violence Against Women, undertaken with support from UNFPA with the National Commission for the Advancement of Women of Lao PDR, 15.3 percent of ever-partnered women, aged 15-64, have experienced physical or sexual violence by a current or former male partner. Over one-quarter of ever-partnered women had experienced emotional abuse by a male partner in their lifetime. Among all interviewees, 5.3 percent reported that they had experienced non-partner sexual violence since the age of 15 (either forced intercourse or attempted forced intercourse/unwanted sexual acts). Young women are more vulnerable to gender-based violence against women (VAW) and rape. The lifetime prevalence of sexual violence among teenage women aged 15-19 years was 12.9% compared to those in their 50s and 60s (4.6% to 7.8%, respectively).
	In Lao PDR, gender-based VAW is a by-product of a number of factors: traditional beliefs; discriminatory customs regarding the role of men and women in society; low reporting rates and weak rule of law and governance mechanisms for civil remedies, holding perpetrators accountable, and small scale interventions for the prevention of gender-based violence.
	The Lao Social Indicator Survey (LSIS) 2011-2012 undertaken by Ministry of Health and Lao Statistics Bureau with support of UNICEF and UNFPA, indicated that about 58% of women and 49% of men felt VAW was justified in certain situations. Of all the women interviewed in the national survey (2014), 35.6 percent agreed with the statement that ‘a good wife should obey the husband even if she disagreed with him’. This rationale was particularly prevalent in rural areas and the country’s northern region. While many young people acknowledge equality as a right, they said gender-based violence was justified when traditional Lao society gender roles and responsibilities were not adhered to, such as the ways women dressed, prepared food for husbands, cared for children and accepted sexual relations. Currently, most gender-based VAW cases or disputes are resolved at the village level. While there is on-going evidence of sensitization to gender-based violence in terms of the number of staff trained to respond to such cases within social services, police stations, courts and mediation units. However, this sensitization is yet to be translated into direct service provision for female survivors. Very few facilities provide an extensive range of services, and the referral mechanism to other essential facilities and services remain virtually non-existent. Only one of the 82 facilities surveyed (a court) was able to provide the cost of its building or annual rent. Generally, expenditures were categorized as equipment (including medical in health facilities), training, vehicles, personnel, utilities, administration, transport, supplies and stationery. LWU has provided counselling services for people at the national and sub-national levels incl. villages. There were 11,668 people (71.8 % women and 28.2 % men) using the LWU counselling centers in 2017. The counselling topics are legal, health, and psychological issues related to violence against women.

Eliminating gender-based VAW is a critical part of the development process. The state also has an obligation to implement and coordinate activities to respond to all forms of gender-based VAW in a systematic way. Considering the afore-mentioned problems, there is a need to review and upgrade the government's strategic plan in order to provide clear guidelines for all stakeholders to work together towards eliminating gender-based VAW. In addition, the current governance mechanism should be strengthened to better coordinate various interventions on the issue and ensure Lao women's participation in the discussion and implementation of EVAW related initiatives.

The LWU developed the national plan of action on the prevention and elimination of VAW to eliminate VAW (2014-2020). The action plan aims for ambitious goals, including the provision of shelters (eight in separate provinces) and the integration of counselling services, particularly in rural health clinics. The 8th NSEDP (2016-2020) also contains a target to implement 70 percent of the national action plan for prevention and elimination of violence against women and children by 2020 (6.7.3.2 Gender Equality and Advancement of Women).

However, by 2019, according to consultations, the targeted implementation is yet to be achieved due to various challenges including, limited resources and lack of human resources. Moreover, there is a lack of integration into the national development agenda; for instance, GBV indicators are missing from the 8th NSEDP M&E Framework.

In 2020, the outbreak of COVID-19 has exacerbated the existing gender and social inequalities. Emerging evidence from the pandemic indicated an increase in GBV. Lockdowns and quarantine measures placed by many countries mean that millions of women are confined with their abusers, with limited options for seeking help and support. The project is very timely to address the above-mentioned issues given that the Government of Lao PDR has started the process to develop the 9th NSEDP and the most relevant sectoral plans - the next GBV strategic plan and the Legal Sector Master Plan. It is also to protect the gains made on gender equality and women's empowerment in the past years, and to ensure that the recovery measures from COVID-19 is gender-transformative, and is centered on the principle of 'leave no one behind.'

The GBV National Action Plan is developed in line with CEDAW recommendations that the Lao Government has committed to implement. It will apply a gender-transformative approach, with work plans and interventions that focus on supporting

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Vision 2030 and 10-Year National Strategy on Gender Equality (2016–2025).</li> <li>- Legal Sector Master Plan (adopted in 2009)</li> </ul>
(Please, add rows below, if needed.) a) Detailed description of the linkages. This project responds to Lao PDR's national policy, KOICA's Gender Equality strategy and the UN's SDGs. The 8th National Social and Economic Development Plan 2016-2020 (NSEDPlan), lays out a clear framework and foundations for the development for the country and sets 'gender as a cross-cutting' issue. The government is committed to considerably reducing discrimination and violence against women by consolidating efforts from various stakeholders, improving legislation, building capacity of duty bearers, and advocacy. At the same time, the KOICA's Gender Equality Mid-Term Strategy 2016-2020 also indicates its commitment to strive to build a support model for survivors of violence against women and girls. Similarly, the UN's SDG 5 focuses on ending all forms of discrimination against women and girls in both the private and public sphere. Adopting and strengthening sound policies and enforceable legislation for the promotion of gender equality is also deemed effective and suitable. The proposed project also encourages promoting SDG 16 - peaceful and inclusive societies and building effective and inclusive institutions. All the above strategies and goals are addressed by the project, which improves the institutional and policy framework to accelerate the elimination of gender-based violence against women and promoting women's participation. b) Relevance of the project with ORG's HDP Nexus strategy or related strategy. (Also, refer to OECD DAC Recommendation on the HDP-Nexus) This strategy pursues a human rights-based approach to development. UNDP will ensure that (i) programme design is based on research and analysis of gaps in the realization of the human rights of women and men; (ii) human rights principles and standards are applied in all phases of the programme cycle; (iii) and that situation analysis, performance monitoring and reporting explicitly document progress in achieving gender equality, in line with the principles and standards of the Beijing Platform for Action, Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women, other human rights treaties including the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and global and regional commitments. The OECD DAC recommended building more complementarity between humanitarian, development and peace actions. The project, therefore, supports all related stakeholders through a comprehensive governance mechanism and joined up collective efforts through the policy platform. The project responds to violence

	against women to build a peaceful and violence free environment and to promote gender equality.
	JUSTIFICATION FOR INTERVENTION: Please describe how the need for the Project was determined, and what the rationale/justification for the Project (why the Project is considered to be the most effective way the problem is resolved).
4.3	Gender-based violence, which predominantly impacts women and girls, is a grave violation of the most basic human rights and fundamental freedoms. Gender-based violence takes both considerable health and economic toll for survivors and their families, and an economic toll for communities and countries. In Lao PDR, the National Commission for the Advancement of Women and Mothers and Children (NCAW-MC) developed the national plan of action on the prevention and elimination of VAW (2014-2020). However, its implementation is yet to achieve its target (70%) indicated in the 8th NSEDP. This is due to various challenges including limited resources, lack of human resources and limited opportunities for women to participate in the policy dialogue. In addition, to combat gender-based VAW, Lao PDR has taken some positive measures, including the criminalization of marital rape, and the development of a related national action plan. Also, national studies on violence against women have been conducted and counselling services and shelters for victims have been established. However, it is noted from 2018 Concluding Observations by the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women, that challenges in terms of gender-based VAW have remained. For instance, instances of gender-based violence against women, especially domestic and sexual violence and rape, remains high but the rate of reporting among women who are victims of domestic violence is low, often because of the associated social stigma. For domestic and sexual violence cases, dispute resolution persistently relies on alternative forms, particularly village mediation units. Limited training opportunities are given for relevant government officials, including law enforcement personnel and members of village mediation units. Thus, their capacities need to be further enhanced in terms of identifying all forms of gender-based violence against women and addressing individual cases in a gender-sensitive manner. Moreover, the lack of data impacts overall evidence-based decision making, particularly data on cases of gender-based violence against women that have been investigated and have led to prosecutions and on the sanctions imposed on perpetrators, disaggregated by age and the relationship between the victim and the perpetrator.

	In order to address these challenges, continued support should be provided to the National Commission for the Advancement of Women and Mothers &amp; Children to integrate NPA on ERAW and Gender Equality into various sectors and provincial plans and Lao Women's Union, the mass organization responsible for involving Lao women in the development process and promoting the implementation of policy on gender equality and the advancement of women, to develop their institutional capacities and combat all kinds of gender-based VAW effectively. Given above, this project sees an entry point to the issue by strengthening the country's policy framework and governance mechanism to better address and mainstream gender-based violence against women in the national development agenda while promoting women's participation, taking into consideration of the recommendations from the concluding observation of CEDAW, as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Ensure the effective implementation of legislation on gender-based violence against women and girls, particularly the Law on Preventing and Combating Violence against Women and Children, including by allocating sufficient human, financial and technical resources for the effective handling of complaints and operation of referral systems;</li> <li>- Encourage women and girls to report all cases of gender-based violence against them, including by enhancing awareness-raising campaigns through media and public education campaigns;</li> <li>- Ensure that women and girls who are victims of gender-based violence have direct access to legal remedies and victim and witness assistance and protection programmes and that village mediation units do not constitute an obstacle to access for women to formal justice, in particular in cases of domestic and sexual violence;</li> <li>- Ensure that women and girls who are victims of domestic violence, in particular those who live in remote areas, have adequate access to shelters, psychosocial counselling, legal assistance and protection orders against abusive partners;</li> <li>- Systematically collect data on gender-based violence against women and girls, in particular domestic and sexual violence, disaggregated by age, ethnicity and the relationship between the victim and the perpetrator, as well as on protection orders, the number of prosecutions made and the sentences imposed on perpetrators.</li> </ul> The Noi framework and commitments made by the Lao Government at the 25th anniversary of ICPD PoA (international conference on population and development 's Programme of Action) reaffirm the need to protect girls and women from Gender based violence.
4.4	LESSONS LEARNED: Please describe what lessons Partner Country has drawn on (from Partner Country's own and other's past experience) in designing this Project.

The project will draw upon extensive experiences of two UN Agencies, UNDP and UNFPA, in implementing projects in the Lao context that strengthens governance mechanisms, improving legislation and enhances access to justice, especially for women and girls. Where applicable the expertise of UN Women and other UN agencies may be sought.

The project builds on the comprehensive approach undertaken by UNFPA in addressing Gender-based violence, which is based on the life cycle approach and also focusing on the essential package of services for GBV. The interventions on-going include support to normative work for CEDAW as well as ICPD 25 and Beijing 25, development of national policies and strategies, collection of data and implementing strategic interventions that uphold the need to respect, protect and promote women and girls. The interventions include capacity building of duty bearers on a range of interventions to detect and reduce GBV while at the same time sensitizing rights holders on how to claim rights. A growing piece of the work is on engaging men and boys to partner in this work. Support to the protection centre managed by LWU and counselling services for the most vulnerable women are part of the UNFPA support.

UNDP has been supporting the Ministry of Justice through 'Strategic Support to Strengthen Rule of Law in Lao PDR' with a strong focus in eliminating gender-based violence against women by building gender-sensitive and responsive legal institutions and assisting women and girls in understanding their legal rights. The project facilitated training to legal officers on the prevention of violence and sexual abuse against women and children. Legal aid services were also provided to GBV victims in targeted provinces. The initial success of the project in the legal sector represents the government's willingness to push forward initiatives that address gender-based VAW. The project has also been providing technical and financial support for the secretariat of Legal and Institutional Oversight Sub-Sector Working Group that has provided a platform for multi-stakeholder discussion on access to justice for women.

However, efforts are needed to integrate efforts in different sectors in an all-encompassing strategy or mechanism. The lessons from the on-going project – Governance for Inclusive Development Programme (GIDP) respond to this gap. The project has shown that improving governance mechanisms can promote significant change in local development as a comprehensive policy framework can guide concrete actions at national, provincial and district level. The Governance Sector Working Group, supported by GIDP, is a strong platform to deepen the cooperation between the government, development partners and the civil society, and to discuss development priorities and plans. UNDP supports the SWG Secretariat in MPI, the development of 9th NSEDP, Round Table Process, and co-chairs the Governance SWG.

In addition, it will benefit from UNDP's strong partnership with the Lao Women's Union that has been built through two gender-related projects, namely, 'Inclusive and Sustainable New Communities' (ISNC) and 'Strategic Support to Achieve SDG 5 in Lao PDR' (SDG 5). The ISNC project was designed based on the successful rural development model in the Republic of Korea. Through an inclusive and community-led approach, the project successfully brought better livelihood to 10 villages in Saravan Province, and have enhanced their access to resources, facilities and tools for improving their income. The project also had a close linkage with Lao PDR's national decentralization, economic development and nutrition policy, and UNDP served as a facilitator promoting these essential national policies to different levels of government authorities. Based on lessons learned from ISNC, the current SDG5 project has continued to support the LWU in promoting women's economic empowerment and improving the national capacity for SDG5 implementation, monitoring and reporting while ensuring stronger policy linkage at local and national level in order to achieve the 8th NSEDP (2016–2020) target 6.7.3.1 on Women's Development as well as target 6.7.3.2 on Gender Equality and Advancement of Women by 2020. Through these two projects, UNDP and the Lao Women's Union have accumulated rich experiences in capacity building and promoting quality results through close communication, consultations and policy-level interventions. The LWU also have expertise in localizing SDGs while remaining sensitive to national context and practices.

Moreover, knowledge, experience and lessons learned in the region will be continuously provided during the project cycle through support from the UNFPA and UNDP Regional Offices, particularly in terms of GBV expertise, in close cooperation with UN Women.

In addition, UN Women Cambodia launched a similar project from 2012 – 2015, which strengthened a participatory and evidence-based formulation of a comprehensive Action Plan to End Violence against women and girls. The project concluded that it is a challenge to secure a commitment from relevant line ministries and budget allocation. Hence, one major component of this project establishes a policy platform, where different stakeholders gather for discussions for & decision-making. This ensures all parties are on the same page and work towards the goal of EVAW in an integrated and complementary manner.

It is also expected that the achievement of project's ultimate objective - mainstreaming of the gender-based violence against women into the national development agenda - will benefit from UNDP and UNFPA Lao PDR's experience and knowledge gained through its support to the Ministry of Planning and Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The programme has been providing technical assistance to the 8th NSEDP implementation and monitoring, Round Table Process, formulation of 9th NSEDP eventually leading up to LDC graduation, MIC transition and SDG achievement. The programme also aims to ensure that gender equity in the path to achieving SDGs and attaining LDC graduation is assured.

	The agencies have on-going collaboration and technical assistance the overall process. The Noi framework, ICPD PoA and ICPD 25 commitments are essential elements for realization of the SDGs. The two UN agencies, UNDP and UNFPA, will use lessons learnt from the aforementioned projects, that are operational at local level and have leveraged changes at central level, the current project will focus on creating a violence-free environment for women and girls by strengthening the governance mechanism and increasing women's participation and contribute to the mainstreaming the gender-based violence against women into the national development agenda.

SECTION 5. PROJECT DESCRIPTION

	Objective/Outcome/Output: Please outline the objectives, the expected outcomes, and outputs of the Project.
5.1	The project aims to draw attention to the critical linkage between gender-based violence and the achievement of the national development agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals and will support national authorities to plan cross-sectoral initiatives to address and reduce such violence. To this end, the project will pursue initiatives that accelerate structural transformations for the elimination of gender-based violence against women and remove the institutional, societal, political and legal barriers hindering its achievement. More specifically, the project will support Lao Women's Union in building its institutional capacities to develop, adopt and implement the next phase of the 5-year national strategic plan and its implementation guideline. Capacity development programmes and training will be developed and provided for the LWU as well as other line ministries and authorities. The project also will support LWU's efforts in the establishment of a platform for policy dialogue ensuring women's participation in decision-making and implement initiatives to develop women's capacities to participate and lead. The project will focus on the following three components that are interrelated and designed to create a virtuous loop and synergies: 1. Support the development of the next phase 5-year National Strategic Plan on EVAW (2021–2025) The component aims to contribute to the evidence-based formulation of the next phase 5-year National Strategic Plan on EVAW (2021–2025) through policy-oriented research, participatory consultation process, incl. victims / survivors of violence, and advocacy. This includes I) provide technical assistance to formulate and finalize the National Strategic Plan on EVAW (2021–2025); II) provide technical assistance for the integration of NAP on EVAW in the sectors' plan; III) provide technical assistance to formulate and finalize the National Strategic Plan on Gender Equality (2021–2025); IV) provide technical assistance for the integration of NAP on Gender Equality in the sectors' plans; V) conduct consultations at the national and provincial levels; VI) organize an International Conference combined with an exchange programme with ROK to strengthen institutional capacity of the LWU to effectively address the EVAW issue. The overall intervention and process aim to feed into the development of Lao PDR's 9th National Socio-Economic Development Plan 2021-2025 (NSEDP). It will also support the implementation of international instruments, including CEDAW, Beijing/CSW and ICPD.

It will ensure a comprehensive framework that covers different levels such as national, multi-sectoral, sector-specific and institutional incorporating a common understanding of violence against women that is victim / survivor-centric and is informed by guiding human rights principles and the need for offender accountability.

2. Support the development of Implementation guideline and M&E Plan of the 5-year National Strategic Plan on EVAW (2021–2025)

The project will provide support in the development of the implementation guideline with more concrete activities, both required and available resources as well as an M&E Plan. The guideline will also clearly articulate the internal institutional factors such as staffing, protocols, and procedures as well as partnerships required for collaboration. It aims to provide clear guidance on how to integrate sectoral and coordination policies into a National Strategic Plan.

Capacity development programmes and training will be provided for LWU, LSB and other line ministries/authorities at the national and provincial levels on EVAW planning, data collection, monitoring and reporting using the guideline and M&E Plan.

3. Establishment of a platform for policy dialogue on Gender & VAW to strengthen governance framework and to promote women's participation

This component aims to support LWU's strong efforts in the establishment of a platform for policy dialogue on Gender & VAW to strengthen the governance framework and to promote women's participation. (e.g. Sub-Sector Working Group of Governance Sector Working Group).

Multi-stakeholder policy discussions will be organised and facilitated through various channels, creating synergies with output 1 and output 2, in order to feed into Lao PDR's Round Table Process.

It will contribute to the integration of Gender and VAW into the 9th National Socio-Economic Development Plan and the next Legal Sector Masterplan. Also,

	Gender and VAW will be advocated in the governance and justice sector for the effective implementation and enforcement of the following laws: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Law on Women's Development and Protection</li> <li>○ Law on Preventing and Combating Violence against Women and Children.</li> </ul> Overall interventions will adopt the gender transformative approach to be able to provide support for will apply the gender transformative approach and Human Rights Based Approach.

It will facilitate the exchange of knowledge and experiences through South-South and Triangular Cooperation with neighboring 3.2countries and/or the Republic of Korea. The ROK model will be localized, taking into consideration of the Lao context through a joint work of Lao and ROK's experts together with UNDP. All activities will be managed by UNDP and UNFPA in close collaboration with LWU and timeframe will be depending on the actual start date of the project. Sub-output 1. This plan was drafted with the support of UNFPA, UN Women and CARE International in late 2019, but and has not yet finalized. The finalization is planned to be done by 2020 and will be ready to implement from the first quarter of 2021 onwards. The plan will support the implementation of CEDAW, the National Law on Preventing and Combating Violence Against Women and Children, SDG 5, as well as the ICPD beyond 2014, in particular, on the elimination of gender-based violence.</li> <li>- Activity 1.2 Provide technical assistance for the integration of NAP on EVAW in the sectors' plan. To ensure the effectiveness of implementation, this plan needs to be integrated into line ministries' plans and their sub-national plans. By doing this, each ministry and its sub-national can utilize the annual budget allocated by the Ministry of Finance to implement their plans. Thus, UNFPA will support NCAW-MC to integrate NAP on EVAW into the ministries' plan and their sub-national plan at all levels, from central to provincial and district.</li> </ul>

- Activity 1.3 Provide technical assistance to formulate and finalize the National Strategic Plan on Gender Equality (2021–2025). The formulation will be supported by International Consultant to work with UNFPA’s technical staff and NCAWMC through multi-stakeholders from line ministries, UN agencies and civil society organizations. This plan will support the implementation Beijing Platform for Action, the 9th NSEDP, 2030 Development Agenda, and ICPD beyond 2014.
- Activity 1.4 Provide technical assistance for the integration of NAP on Gender Equality in the sectors’ plans. To ensure the effectiveness of implementation, this plan needs to be integrated into line ministries’ plans and their sub-national plans. The integration will be done by supporting NCAW-MC to work closely with line ministries to integrate NAP on Gender Equality to the ministries’ plan and their sub-national plans at all levels, from central to provincial and district
- Activity 1.5 Conduct consultations/training at the national and provincial level. Consultation will take place before/during/after the formulation of the national strategic plan. LWU will organize the consultations with support from UNFPA Lao PDR. This activity aims to inform the formulation; capacity development and raise awareness of relevant government officials and stakeholders
- Activity 1.6 Organize an International Conference combined with an exchange programme with ROK to strengthen institutional capacity of the LWU to effectively address the EVAW issue. The international exchange programme will promote the triangular/south-south cooperation potentially including ROK partners by providing opportunities about, and support the establishment of peer to peer support network.

Sub-output 2 The Implementation guideline & M&E Plan of the 5-year National Strategic Plan on EVAW (2021–2025) developed

- Activity 2.1 Provide technical assistance to formulate and the implementation of M&E framework of National Action Plans on EVAW and Gender Equality. The formulation will be supported by an expert from UNFPA regional office and an expert from ROK. The two experts will work with UNFPA’s national technical staff and NCAWMC to provide technical inputs to the M&E framework. The M&E framework will set up concrete target indicators to achieve by 2025. It will also identify activities and required and available resources, as well as identifying internal institutional factors such as staffing, as well as partnerships required for collaboration.
- Activity 2.2 Improve the monitoring and reporting systems (cases management and identification) from district provincial and central levels. The improvement will be done through conducting consultation workshop with line ministries on setting up the monitoring system and responsibility of each ministry involves to report the implementation of NAP on EVAW. This will include Consultation & training for LWU, LSB and other line ministries at the national and provincial levels on EVAW(GBV) planning, data collection, monitoring and reporting

Activity 2.3 Support the development and implementation of the National Guideline for Standard Operational Procedure (SOP) for prevention and responses to EVAW/GBV.

The Law on Preventing and Combat Violence Against Women will be used as one of a guide for developing SOPs for the health and social sectors as the law defines EVAW/GBV and rights of survivors; identifies essential protection and assistance for the survivor of violence, and rights and duties of concerned ministries to prevent and respond to EVAW/GBV. However, this law doesn't provide a clear guide for concerned government sectors, especially at the provincial, district and village levels for the implementation of this law. Thus, the SOPs will be developed based on the Essential Service Package (ESP), an internationally agreed standards/ guidance tool identifying the quality essential services to be provided by the health, social services, police, and justice sectors to all women victim of violence, obligations and the existing national law on Preventing and Combating Violence Against Women and regulations for prevention and response to EVAW/GBV.

The objectives of the Standard Operational Procedure (SOPs) for prevention and responses to EVAW/GBV are the following:

1. To develop a standard guideline /protocol for health and social sectors
2. To ensure the health and social sectors use the SOPs to effectively and timely prevent and respond to EVAW/GVB
3. To ensure survivors' rights are protected and essential social and health services are provided for them.

Based on several discussions with LWU and NCAWMC on how to prevent and respond to violence against women, although, Lao PDR has the law on EVAW/GBV. The suggestion provided by LWU is that using Leeson learned from the implementing the Anti-Human Trafficking law, that the Law does not provide a clear guideline for implementation, thus, the National Human Trafficking Committee has been established and guidelines for protection, assistance, referral pathway for human trafficking is developed through consultation with technical officials and management of concerned line ministries as well with UN agencies, development partners and CSOs working on human trafficking several times, before officially approved by the Deputy Prime Minister of Lao PDR. As mentioned that the Law on Preventing and Combating Violence against Women also does not provide a clear guideline/protocol for implementation, therefore, to effectively prevent and respond to EVAW/GBV, the SOP, with a clear guideline and in line with international standards, needs to be developed and implemented by concerned sectors.

The referral system for human trafficking will be complemented with this initiative with the referral pathway on GBV and by other agencies initiatives with the referral for violence against children. National institutions such as LWU, MPI, MoH, MoLSW have committed to contribute to the development and implementation of the referral system.

UNFPA will support the development of SOPs of the health and social sectors as per its mandate. These SOPs will provide a specific, clear, and detailed scope of works, guidelines, protocols for the health and social sectors, from national and sub-national levels, for prevention and response to ERAW/GBV, which have not provided in the Law on Preventing and Combating Violence Against Women.

The SOPs of the health and social sectors of Lao PDR will not be a copy of the SOP of other countries. The development and implementation of SOP will be based on the national structure and policy as well as the political commitment of each country that commits to prevent and respond to ERAW.

In the case of Lao PDR, the development of the SOP will be supported by International and National Consultants who will work closely with UNFPA's technical staff and LWU/NCAWMC as well as the Ministry of Health to draft the SOPs. The development processes will be done through reviewing the existing Law on Preventing and Combating Violence Against Women, NAP on ERAW and other national regulations, as well as reviewing the guidelines and protocol for responding for ERAW from ESP, CEDAW and its recommendations for Lao PDR to strengthen the prevention and response to ERAW and other relevant obligations that the Lao Government has committed to prevent and respond to ERAW/GBV.

Several multi-stakeholder consultations with the health and social sectors at the central, provincial and district levels will be conducted. Korean expert and Korean embassy along with UN agencies, and civil society organizations will be invited to participate in these processes. These SOPs will also layout a foundation for the SOP for the operation of ERAW Center that is being supported by KOICA in the bilateral agreement with LWU.

So, the main difference between SOP of UNFPA and KOICA is that UNFPA will develop SOPs of health and social sectors that will be implemented in every level of health and social sectors from central to local levels. While the SOPs that KOICA will develop for health and justice sectors that work to support the operation of the ERAW Center.

To implement the SOP, the National Committee for prevention and response to ERAW will be established. These SOPs will be simulated. The members of this committee will support to guarantee the operation of the ERAW and ensure the effective implementation of the SOPs through regular quarterly meetings, semi-annual monitoring, and final evaluation of the implementation of SOPs. The SOPs will be reviewed based on the evaluation and officially endorsed by the Deputy Prime Minister, who is also the President of NCAWMC. UNFPA will mobilize more funding to expand the implementation of these SOPs in other provinces.

- Activity 2.4 Support monitoring and evaluation (midterm review) the implementation of the second National Action Plan on Prevention and Combating to Violence Against Women and Children for 2021-2025. The support will be done through supporting NCAW-MC and LWU to monitor the implementation of NAP on EAW with line ministries and sub-national as well as conducting midterm review of the implementation of the plan.

Training materials will be developed by the above-mentioned experts, NCAW-MC and LWU based on Lao context. Training will take place before/during/after the formulation of the implementation guideline with support from the UNFPA Lao PDR. A selected number of staff from social and health sectors will be trained as trainers, and roll-out training will be provided for relevant staff of a selected province. The essential needs and services for survivors will be provided and the monitoring will be conducted annually.

Sub-output 3. A platform for policy dialogue on Gender & VAW to strengthen governance framework and to promote women's participation (e.g. Sub-Sector Working Group of Governance Sector Working Group) established

- Activity 3.1 Conduct capacity/needs assessment and submit a proposal and TOR to LWU based on preparation consultations

A national expert will conduct capacity/needs assessment of the sector to establish a platform for policy dialogue through desk review and in-depth interview of stakeholders to develop/submit a proposal and TOR to LWU & SWG Secretariat based on preparation consultations. The platform can bring various stakeholders including government, development partners, CSOs and victims/survivors of violence. The platform may take responsibilities of monitoring and reporting of relevant NSEDP and SDG indicators and lead some outreach activities jointly with other partners. The project aims to establish the platform in the justice sector and have an endorsement by 2021, ideally before Round Table Meeting.

- Activity 3.2 Organize policy dialogue discussions, workshops, seminars, meeting and other events on Gender and VAW

Multi-stakeholder policy discussions will be organized and facilitated through various channels in order to feed into Lao PDR's Round Table Process and other National Dialogues for the formulation of 9th NSEDP and the Legal Sector Master plan. The topics of discussions will cover threats and opportunities for effective governance mechanism, policy framework and institutional capacity on gender and violence against women as well as other relevant issues. Multi stakeholders will be invited including government, development partners, mass organizations, civil society and victims/survivors of violence, and synthesize information to inform and feed into the national development agenda and the Legal Sector Master Plan. Technical and financial support will be provided for the secretariat of the established platform.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Activity 3.3 Research and Surveys on how to strengthen the governance mechanism and policy framework of Gender/EVAW (3 Case Study, 2 Surveys) The project aims to produce 4 research/studies and surveys for discussions for evidence policy making by the end of the project. International and national consultants, potentially including ROK expert(s), will jointly work together and the findings and results will be presented at the policy discussions. The studies and surveys will also support the data collection, monitoring and reporting of Lao PDR.</li> <li>- Activity 3.4 Organize an International Conference combined with an exchange programme with ROK, and other neighboring countries to strengthen the institutional capacity of the LWU to effectively address the Gender and VAW issue (incl. Launch) The international exchange programmes will promote the triangular/south-south cooperation, potentially including ROK partners, by providing opportunities about and support the establishment of peer to peer support network. The activity also intends to support LWU staff's participation in international conference, events and/or seminar, such as Beijing + 25, to build capacities and broaden their knowledge about related issues.</li> </ul> Overall, the component 3 will contribute to the integration of Gender and VAW into the 9th National Socio-Economic Development Plan and the next Legal Sector Masterplan. More specifically, inputs will be provided for relevant chapters of the 9th NSEDP and LSMP. Policy advocacy, awareness-raising, and / or consultation will be facilitated through the platform. It aims to advocate the Gender and VAW in the governance and justice sector for the effective implementation and enforcement of relevant laws, with special focus on the following laws: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>o Law on Women's Development and Protection</li> <li>o Law on Preventing and Combating Violence against Women and Children.</li> </ul>
